ÍNDICE / CONTENTS

Acknowledgments  i

Introduction
Lowell Fiet 1

W elcoming Addresses
Juan R. Fernández, Chancellor 5
Manuel Alvarado Morales, Dean of Humanities 6

How Many Caribbeans?: The Politics of Different Languages/Literatures
Cliff Lashley (On the Political Context of West Indian Literature) 7
Gordon K. Lewis 12
Merle Hodge 15
Josemilio González (Six Poems on Haiti) 20

Literature, Feminism and Sexual Politics 26
Evelyn O’Callaghan
“Feminist Consciousness: European/American Theory, Jamaican Stories” 27
Betty Wilson
“Sexual, Racial, and National Politics: Jacqueline Manicom’s Mon examen de blanc” 52
Elaine Savory Fido
“The Politics of Colours and the Politics of Writing in the Fiction of Jean Rhys” 61
Annette Insanally
“Sexual Politics in Contemporary Female Writing in the Caribbean” 79
Sheila Coulson
“Politics and the Female Experience: An Examination of Beka Lamb and Heremakhonon” 92

Maroons, “Dialect” Poetry, and Drama and Political Reality 106
J.R. Pereira
“The Maroon as Political Motif in Contemporary Caribbean Poetry” 107
Marva L. Lashley
“Identity as Ideology in the “Dialect” Poetry of Bruce St. John” 121

Al Creighton
“Caribbean Drama in a Political Context” 130

Narrative and Ideology 140
Gerald Guiness
“V.S. Naipaul: Should He Come Home and Stop Criticizing the Third World?” 150

Maureen Warner-Lewis
“Saviours, Tyrants, and Rebels” Earl Lovelace’s Fictional Portrayal of Power Relations” 151

Edward Baugh
“Education and Politics in West Indian Fiction: Austin Clarke’s Proud Empires” 166

Steven R. Carter
“Michael Anthony’s Golden Mystery: All That Glitters” 175

Joyce Stewart
“The Latent Ground of Old and New Personalities: Wilson Harris’s Politics” 187

Victor L. Chang
“Images of the Politician in Four Jamaican Novels” 202

Roydon Salick
“Gestures of Faith: An Anatomy of Idealism in the West Indian Novel” 211

List of Contributors 223